RECEPTION AT MRS. DONEHOOS.

The reception last Thursday afternoon by the Womens Club in honor of Mrs. T. M. Purcell, district president, and Mrs. W. E. Simmons, district secretary, took at Metter, was most enjoyable affair.

The lovely home of Mrs. J. E. Donehoo, with its spacious halls and inviting rooms so attractively arranged, furnished an ideal setting for this function. Mrs. Bruce Olliff greeted the guests, fifty of whom were present, and presented them to the receiving line stationed in the rose parlor. Those receiving were the honor guests together with the officers of the club.

The business of the month was postponed in order that the time of the evening might be unlimited. The first number of the program was Mrs. Eugene Wallace's piano solo, Hungarian Rhapsody (Koebling), the rendering of which delighted those who heard.

Mrs. Purcell's address, the feature of the evening, while an inspirational talk, was at the same time of a practical nature too, and one that was calculated to help the club work in Statesboro.

Following the address and closing the program was a vocal solo, "The Golden Hours as They Are" (Perry), sung by Mrs. Roger Holland, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace at the piano. Upon adjournment, the guests were invited into the dining room. Mrs. Donehoo, assisted by Mrs. R. J. Kennedy, Miss Kathleen McCrean, Misses Nellie and Mary Lee Jones and Misses Mamie and Isabel Hall, graciously served an ice course, the color scheme of which was green and white, these being the colors of the Federation.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CLASS.

A social affair of Wednesday afternoon was when the Treasure Seekers' class of the Methodist Sunday-school entertained at the home of Mrs. J. D. Lee, on Savannah avenue. Baskets and vases of different flowers decorated the rooms where the guests assembled. Interesting contests were engaged in, and later dainty refreshments were served.

PROM PARTY.

PEOPLE MUST ASSIST IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

OFFICERS ARE NOT MIND-READERS—CANNOT ENFORCE THE LAWS WITHOUT SUPPORT.

Editor Times:

Well meaning people in every part of the state interested in the enforcement of law, especially in the observance of the prohibition laws, seem not to understand that neither federal nor local officers are mind-readers and that there is no detective or spy system available for every community and every report of violation of the law. It is not the practice nor is it practicable for the officers of the law, especially the federal officers, to discover violations that occur constantly in all parts of the state.

Sometimes an officer detects a crime and discovers unaided a still or blind tiger or a bootlegger's cache, but in ninety per cent of the cases the information is furnished by interested local people. There are thousands of them to every officer and it is easier for a private citizen to get information than it is for an officer of the law, unless the officer is in league with the evil doers.

Let me say to your readers: There are no mind readers employed in the state or by the federal government to secure evidence of violations of the law. It is done on information furnished by people who happen to know the facts and who are willing to give the information to the officers; that can be done either direct or through the office of the Georgia League or other agencies actively interested in the enforcement of the law. There seems to be some general impression that the government may send several men into a community to work several days as detectives to secure evidence of violations of the law. It would bankrupt the country to do that. It is much harder for the officer, even if one should be detailed to your community to secure facts, than it would be for a private citizen to discover the facts, and it is his duty to report them and pressing on your interests to assist the officers in apprehending law-breakers, in backing courts and juries in convicting those who resort to this means for making money or for their living while you and all good citizens are devoting yourselves to useful employment.

In a republic like this, the people are sovereign; there is no higher authority than you and your neighbor and you cannot escape the responsibility you owe your government. Every officer called to your sincere support, and every law breaker should understand that you are not in sympathy with him and his program.

If the press of the state will undertake to inform the public of the necessity, first of local law enforcement, and the importance of furnishing information of lawlessness to the law officers, we should be able to do much more than has been done in the past to discourage the law breaker. It is a simple process after the law abiding citizen in his community understands that he is responsible and that he must be willing to do something of a definite nature if the spirit of lawlessness is to be over come and a safe condition established. It is an easy matter to furnish definite information to the law officers, and perfectly safe if the law officers are furnished a federal officer or furnished to this office of the Georgia League.

While a good citizen should fear to have his name mentioned in connection with any movement for suppressing crime and discouraging criminals, it is not sufficient to say that they prefer not to so expose themselves, and for that reason we are very careful not to say or do anything that will disclose to the outlaw the identity of the informer. Information furnished should be of definite nature and not sufficient to say that they are selling whiskey in a certain community or making whiskey on a certain creek or in a certain county. You can certainly say how many miles north, south, east, or west of the court house or the church or some other landmark, and give names even if you fail to give your own.

The Georgia League is anxious to be of definite service in every county of the state. We constantly receive and furnish information that is val-

LIQUOR RUNNER GETS FINE IN COURT TODAY

MAN AND WOMAN DRIVE BUICK ROADSTER WITH 216 QUARTS, INTO OFFICERS' HANDS.

A young man giving his name as H. H. Cooley, accompanied by a very comely young woman who gave her name as Miss Maria Hayes, drove a Buick roadster with a load of 216 quarts of assorted liquors into the hands of the local officers in Statesboro this morning. The pair are now awaiting the arrival of $350, the amount of the fine Judge Proctor assessed against the man when he entered a plea of guilty a few hours after his capture. No charge was placed against the young woman, as Cooley wired North for the money as soon as the fine was named, addressing his wire to his mother, he said. The couple stated they were en route northward from Palm Beach, Fla., after a Florida license tag. Cooley claimed the car was his own, therefore besides the fine he stands to lose it under condemnation proceedings. He said it was his very first offense against the prohibition laws.

The couple arrived in Statesboro from South Main street. They drove to a restaurant on East Main street and alighted for breakfast, leaving the car in front. The set of the car aroused suspicion, and the officers lay in wait for the couple to finish their breakfast. From the restaurant the party went direct to the county jail, where the contents were stored in a vault.

Federal Officer Wilkins, Sheriff B. T. Mallard, Deputy Sheriff Tillman, and County Policeman Ed Brannan all participated in the capture.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE SUSPENDS OPERATION

With the game Tuesday afternoon between the American Legion and Baraca teams, the Statesboro baseball league ceased operation for the season. The result of this last game was 14 to 4 in favor of the Legion, which, however, had nothing to do with the sudden termination of the league.

The Statesboro league was formed early in June and comprised four teams, the Legion, Baraca, Ad Club and High School. The series was divided into two seasons, the first half ending last week in the victory for the Baraca, who were tied with the Legion till the very last game. The Ad Club trailed behind in third place and the High School boys, as game a set as ever played ball, brought up the rear with a score of 10 games lost and 1 won.

Statesboro had found considerable pleasure in the local contests, and the attendance was not encouraging at the outset of the second half. Added to this, a number of the local boys, members of the opposing teams, absent themselves, Tuesday to participate in a game with another team out of the city. Not only did they go without leave of absence, but carried away the paraphernalia belonging to the club, thus disorganizing the teams by their absence and putting the league managers to the necessity of purchasing additional equipment to play the local contest. All these things contributed to bring about a decision to terminate the city league.

It will be some consolation, however, to learn that there will yet be a number of games on the local diamond, in which the best players from the four local teams will be pitted against outside players.

JUDGE FISH AGAIN OFFERS FOR JUDGESHIP

In another column, appears the announcement of Judge William H. Fish as candidate to succeed himself as chief justice of the supreme court. Judge Fish is one of the best known men in the state and is held in high esteem by the people and the lawyers.

He has been a member of the supreme court since 1896 and has rendered the state splendid service.

Judge Fish was born in Macon, Ga., and at the age of four years his family moved to Macon county.

He graduated at the University of Georgia for seven years, and has since the sentence given him was the limit of the law permitted.

In 1891 he was elected judge of the superior court of the Southwest circuit by the legislature to fill the unexpired term of the late Allen Fort. He was re-elected for the full term for seven years, and in the year of four years. Prior to beginning his new term on the bench, the membership of the supreme court was increased from three to six judges and Judge Fish was nominated for one of the new places.

He has been re-elected ever since that time. In 1905, upon the death of Chief Justice Simmons, he was appointed chief justice by Governor Joseph M. Terrell and was re-elected for the full term the following year. Judge Fish has now been chief justice for seventeen years, and has made a splendid record as a member of the highest court in the state.

His friends in every section feel confident that he will be re-elected to the position which he has honored.

NOTICE.

Just a few lines to my customers and friends: I wish to state right here that we are doing all we can at all times to give the best service we can but unless we have the help of our milk customers in cleaning and setting out bottles each week, we cannot very hard on us, as it is expensive to have so much money invested in bottles; and there is no one that will bear the expense of any business until they experience it.

In spite of the tight times of getting money, our expenses are getting higher, as bottles and cans have advanced, cans 50 per cent, bottles 25 per cent and gasoline about 20 per cent, although we are retaining milk every day, rain or shine, at the same prices as before the World War.

Now, there is no business that can continue to run always losing money. Hoping you will all consider what we have said and help us in our expense as it will benefit each of us.

Thanking you for your past patronage and soliciting more in the future
Yours truly,

BIG PLANS STARTED FOR SUMMER RESORT

GOVERNOR APPROVES LEGISLATION WHICH MEANS DEVELOPMENT OF ST. SIMON'S.

Atlanta, Aug. 1.—The bill introduced by Representative Mann, sponsored by Senator Aiken, of Glynn county, authorizing the city of Brunswick to participate in the cost of building the road and bridge connecting Brunswick with St. Simon's Island, has been passed by the Senate and Governor Hardwick has affixed his signature.

Brunswick is now authorized to join Glynn county in issuing bonds to the amount of $250,000—the county providing one-half the money and the city the other half—, to construct a highway connecting Brunswick with St. Simon's Island and for the construction of a road from the island and off the bridge at Palm Harbor to Long Island on the ocean front and for improving and constructing roads on St. Simon's Island.

Glynn county voted for bonds last fall. At that time the citizens of Brunswick were given an opportunity to express themselves for or against the bond issue. Out of the total registered voters of the city only thirteen votes were cast against the bonds for the purpose mentioned. A vigorous campaign will be started immediately by the citizens of Brunswick to secure the approval of the bond issue and it is expected work will soon be started on the project, which has had the attention of the people of South Georgia for years.

St. Simon's Island is one of the most attractive seacoast recreation resorts in all the South. It is the only island on the South Atlantic coast which is now available for development as a place of residence and recreation.

A town-site is projected at Palm Harbor, which is the site of the old Hilton-Dodge lumber mill; also the site of the home of Hon. Alexander Cooper, one of the first settlers of Georgia. At this point there is a magnificent growth of mammoth live oak cut out by Mr. Cooper more than 100 years ago. These magnificent trees, vigorous and luxuriant in foliage are festooned with Spanish moss and occupy a commanding bluff on beautiful Frederica river, facing

GEORGIA SENATOR RANKS HIGH ON COMMITTEES

Atlanta, Aug. 1.—United States Senator William J. Harris will move up one place in seniority on the Senate Appropriations Committee after next March 4, because of the defeat of Senator Culberson, of Texas, it was commented on here today, which places the Georgia senator as the third ranking Democratic Senator on the most powerful committee in congress.

On the minority side, Senator Harris is only junior to Senators Overman, of North Carolina, and Owen, of Oklahoma, while he is followed by Senators Glass, of Virginia, and Jones, of New Mexico.

Senator Harris is one of six of the important sub-committees which handle appropriation bills under the new committee rules changed to conform to the budget law.

It is expected that a hard fight will be waged in Democratic circles, after next March 4 to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Senator Culberson as membership on the appropriations committee is eagerly sought.

Senator Overman, ranking minority member, would likely take the chairmanship of the Banking and Currency Committee, of which he is senior Democrat, in case the Democrats win the Senate. That would place Senator Harris in line for the Appropriations chairmanship.

FIND TWO PHASES OF FATIGUE

Really Dangerous One Is Where the Subject Is Not Really Conscious of Being Tired.

Experiments carried out to test the mental effects of loss of sleep have revealed the remarkable fact that there are two distinct phases of fatigue. The first is one of stimulus, under which work is done rather better than under normal conditions. Then follows a phase of more longer duration in which the body makes good its losses—a period characterized by general loss of accuracy, power of concentration and retentiveness. There is, however, no sense of fatigue during this phase—quite the reverse.

What is called carelessness is often due to this second stage of fatigue. When a man knows he is fatigued, he naturally takes excessive precautions, but when the second stage comes along, he does not feel tired, and consequently carelessness steps in. Some of the famous workers of the world seem to be able to work abnormally long hours and live abnormally long lives. Possibly their bodies supply naturally a fatigue anti-toxin. There is a fortune awaiting the scientist who discovers the cause of this carelessness!—London Tit-Bits.

BURR'S PURPOSE NOT KNOWN

Historians Have Never Been Sure of Plans the Brilliant Adventurer Had in Mind.

Aaron Burr's conspiracy has never been entirely understood by historians. He went West on some mysterious mission shortly after his duel with Alexander Hamilton, which resulted in the latter's death, and it is suspected that his purpose was either to found a new empire by separating the portion of the country west of the Mississippi from the rest of the United States, or to make a conquest of Mexico. In 1806 he gathered up a number of reckless persons around him and set out on a filibustering expedition. President Jefferson issued a proclamation warning citizens against joining this project, and later Burr was arrested by Jefferson's orders and sent to Virginia for trial.

There he was indicted for treason and levying war within this country against a friendly nation. Various legal technicalities prevailed to secure his acquittal on both these counts. The matter of Burr's death was dropped, and Burr passed out of public sight.

An Essay.

Little Bobbie Jones was told to write an essay on "The grasses of the globe which he sent in as follows:—

"Most houses have all the doors closed at least one. The two main differences between a door and a gate is, first, their opposite location; and second, that people have much less respect for a gate, and would rather kick it than knock on it.

"But a gate is more useful than a door because it does everything that a door can do, and besides that, it can be climbed over, and often is. The doorhandle is a small but important part of the door which people never appreciate until it comes off. Most people never notice the doorhandle unless it is brought to their notice on account of having jam spread all over it.

"Doors are great things to give people privacy, and would give them still more if it wasn't for the keyholes."

Sulphur and the Soil. In certain parts of France the residue from gasworks is extensively used as a fertilizer. Analysis of several samples of the material show that it contains about 40 per cent of sulphur and from 1 to 3 per cent of nitrogen, in the form of ammonia or its salts. Experiments in garden soil prove that the value of this unusual fertilizer agent is due in part to the large amount of sulphur in it. Flax seed is said to promote the growth of both roots and leaves, and to give the plants a deeper green color than they would have without it. Probably it helps them to form chlorophyll. Moreover, some of the sulphur is oxidized and becomes sulphate in the soil.

Grownups Played With Dolls. An ordinary passenger locomotive consumes a pound of fuel for every 32 feet it travels. Each unnecessary stop, made with a heavy freight or passenger train, represents a fuel loss of from 500 to 750 pounds of coal, depending on the weight of the train, the length of the stop and the grade conditions.

A brake-line air leak on a train of 20 freight cars has been known to cause a loss of as much as 2,540 pounds of coal in a ten-hour period. The loss of coal each time a modern locomotive stops for five minutes is about seventy-five pounds. If locomotive firemen were to save a little more than one shovelful of coal out of each ten used, the total saving would be equal to nearly 7 per cent of all the coal handled.—World's Work.

Origin of Slang Term. Students of slang have found interest in an article in an English magazine on "Black Beetles," because it gives what is perhaps the origin of the use of "cuckoo" for "crazy." According to the writer, the word cuckoo comes from the Spanish "cucacaca," which he says probably means a sort of bug, in Spanish "cucu." The word "bug" is a similar, if restricted, sense has become pretty well established in slang use in this country, and perhaps, say students of the subject, finding its way across the Rio Grande, has been exchanged for its Mexican equivalent in the same way that many other Spanish words have entered the American language.—New York Evening Post.

HELP CANE GROWERS IN SHIPPING PRODUCT

RAILROADS TO PERMIT CANNING AND REFINING PRIVILEGES IN TRANSIT.

Atlanta, Aug. 1.—Short line railroads in Georgia are to become parties to the recent tariff by the trunk line railroads permitting canning and refining privileges in transit on syrup and molasses, according to announcement today by James A. Percy, of the Georgia Railroad Commission.

This means that cane growers will be permitted to ship their product on a through freight rate, with the privilege of stopping the shipment enroute for canning and refining. This removes one of the great barriers in successfully marketing syrup, as it enables the growers to get the product from the farm before fermentation sets up in the early spring and have it canned which enables them to hold it off of the market until a satisfactory price is available. Heretofore the growers have been forced to rush their syrup to the market in fear of fermentation, with the result that the price is always lowest while the grower is selling.

Some months ago Commissioner Percy took up with the trunk line carriers the question of such transit privileges on syrup and molasses, later handling inter-state movements with the Interstate Commerce Commission carrying the same privilege, with the result that market points in many sections west of the Mississippi river have been opened to the Georgia cane growers.

It is argued by those at interest that many thousand barrels of syrup and molasses will now reach a desirable market which has heretofore been lost on the farm from fermentation.

AT THE BASIS OF OUR NATURAL LIFE IS THE FARM. This nation is as big and strong as it is because it boasts the best farmers in the world, and because its farmers understand the value of intelligent work and lots of it.

The farmer is not afraid of work, that's why he is a farmer. What he wants to know is how he can do more work and better work—how he can save time in order that he may concentrate on the big things. And in consequence, IMPROVED MACHINERY is being used more and more. TRACTORS, for instance, on hundreds and thousands of farms are multiplying man-power and horse-power and making farming more profitable.

THIS BANK has and will lend its influence and strength toward progress in the South, and it has found that those things which help the farmer benefit the nation. It believes in labor-saving devices that will make better farmers; that will make larger crops and bigger profits.

IF WE COULD FORGET.

The Times has been surprised to find itself almost decided to support Governor Hardwick in his race for re-election. We found him in bad company two years ago, and, judging him by his company and his conduct, we felt justified in opposing his election. In the present race he seems to have shaken himself pretty well clear of his former bad company, besides having in a large measure changed front on many important matters, thus almost coming within the realm of our approval.

We found him two years ago, opposing things that we condemned. Today we find him standing for the things we approve—standing boldly and determinedly. We like the way he stands of the question of tax equalization—his demand that some of the present law shall be repealed; we like the manner in which he has defied the imaginary attempts at "invisible government," whatever that may mean; we like the way he has declared for the enforcement of the state and federal tax equalization law in the face of considerable opposition on the part of a defiant element. Approving these things, we had been almost counting ourselves among the Hardwick element at the present time.

But we sat for a moment and permitted our mind to revert back to incidents even beyond the last campaign—into that period when our country was at war and Hardwick was giving encouragement to those who were the enemies of our country, while he was in the United States senate and the great President of our country, bowing under such burdens of responsibility as no man in public office ever before labored under, called upon him for help—and called in vain. We remembered the time, after he was defeated for the Senate, when he was associated with the defense of one of the arch-conspirators against the country to defeat the mandates of our country, and represented him for a fee; how even during his last campaign for the governorship he gave sympathy to those who rebelled against the enforcement of prohibition laws and aipping vat laws, while he rallied to his support every man who had a grievance, fancied or real. When we remembered these things, there arose in our mind the question, How is he a better man now than he was then?

He has been talking all right, but what has he actually done?

We have tried to find something tangible in his favor, and have failed. He proclaims that he has taken the state out of debt and placed it on a sound basis. But has he? The state was behind something like two million dollars. It had an annual income from the rental of the state road approximating half a million dollars. He procured an advance payment of five years' rental and paid up the pressing obligations. Then he fathered a scheme to put a tax on gasoline for five years to replace the income he had discounted. If it is statesmanship to collect in advance the rents annually due about Georgia, sparing not time nor expense in behalf of his country. We find him loyal to every word and deed, building instead of destroying where his country needed buildings.

Some of Cliff Walker's enemies say he is not a strong man. We find that whatever strength he has, is for the right. He has promised much, and if elected possibly would not do much; few men do as much as they promise—few men intend to do all they promise. Hardwick's friends of two years ago charge that he has done very little he promised them. We are not condemning him for what he has failed to do; but we cannot bring ourselves to forget the things he did before he went in.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY.

Figures just obtained from the tax digest for 1922 disclose the large extent to which the farmers of Bulloch county are engaged in animal husbandry, particularly the raising of sheep, goats and—dogs.

In the digest, sheep and goats are classed together, and the total value of both returned for taxation in Bulloch county is placed at $2,992. White farmers returned $2,613 of this total amount, and the colored $379. Sheep have about passed out, therefore the totals above represent goats almost exclusively. Everybody has been inclined to look upon the goat as self-sustaining, and the wonder is the figures are so low.

And if we compare the valuations placed upon the dogs of the county, one is amazed to find that the colored people returned dogs to the value of $3,324. This is in excess of the total valuation of all the sheep and goats owned by all the white and colored farmers of the county. The explanation is that the colored people raise up in righteously indignation in a tirade against the failure of the negroes wasting their substance in the support of "worthless dogs" while the lowly goat and sheep have been crowded off the map. We can almost hear the people exclaim that the extravagance must be stopped—that more attention shall be given to goats and sheep and less to dogs.

But before we go too far in our wrath, let us find first how the white people have set a better example—how few dogs they have. When we find the value of the white people of Bulloch county place upon their dogs is $7,501—more than twice the value of the dogs fed by negroes—more than twice the value of all the sheep and goats owned in the county! And there is a record in animal husbandry which at once settles us to distinction. Give the colored man credit for following the white man as close as he can—he returns half the value of dogs while his other property totals only one-twentieth!

WHY MEN DISAGREE.

Most of the disputes between individuals arise from the difference in the viewpoint from which each views the matter disputed about. The fellow who is trying to sell, always believes the buyer is trying to defraud him in price; while the fellow who is buying, is just as sure he is being deliberately robbed. Both are in a measure right, and yet each might be able to see a little clearer, if he would view from the other's standpoint.

A laboring man who was employed on one of the Georgia railroads went out on strike some months ago over a wage disagreement. He stood shoulder to shoulder with other strikers who intimidated even to the point of murdering those who were willing to take the places the strikers had vacated. He could see reason only in the demand of the strikers. It was preposterous that their employers should undertake to fix the rate of pay for employees, or should undertake to employ others in their places when they had walked out.

The strikers, eventually tiring of his wait, went into a business of his own road approximating half a million dollars. He procured an advance payment of five years' rental and paid up the pressing obligations. Then he fathered a scheme to put a tax on gasoline for five years to replace the income he had discounted. If it is statesmanship to collect in advance the rents annually due about Georgia, sparing not time nor expense in behalf of his country. We find him loyal to every word and deed, building instead of destroying where his country needed buildings.

BAG OF GOLD IS AT RAINBOW'S END

FARMER WHO PROSPERED AT DIVERSIFICATION IS TO BE FOUND ELSEWHERE.

Clito, Ga., July 26, 1922. Dear Mr. Editor: For fear this letter from "A Farmer's Wife," which so vividly and truthfully presents the answer to a treatise on the "diversification of crops," now filling the press of the state, might escape your notice, I am taking the liberty to call your attention to it. It explains to a large extent the why of the railroad "Agricultural Department"—merely that we may raise products for the highly overpaid and always dissatisfied railroad union labor hor to fatten on. And the railroad itself fattens considerably more on ten carloads of melons netting them $2,000 in freight and us from $300 to $500 gross returns, than it does on the cotton from twenty acres netting them $40 in freight and us $800 gross.

This lady seems to have the happy faculty of stating a great truth in a forceful way, and I believe your readers, a great number of whom have been misled into foolish diversified experiments, will appreciate her letter. We mustn't lose sight of the fact that, after all, the financial security of the farmer lies in making something on which he collects the returns, rather than on something for which the railroad union labor gets it all.

Recently a great number of us have wandered off into strange country, worshipping false gods. Like Israel of old, we are slowly returning to our senses, but always there will be those to be misled. Let's help them. I have tried melons and peanuts and hay and corn. I have tried them honestly, and used every means at my command to make them profitable—and have failed every time. I have watched my neighbors for many years who have failed with experiments, and I learned that it wasn't he, but his brother-in-law who lived down in Coffee county, and not having time to go to Coffee county, I gave it up.

Let's give these "fads" the once over. There isn't any use fooling ourselves, nor allowing ourselves to be fooled. If these agricultural fancies are profitable, kindly bring forth the actual man who can prove they are; not theoretically—but actually. The farmer is the only man I know who takes all the risk, pays or tries to pay all the bills and then allows every policy of his business to be dictated by the other fellow, 99½ per cent of whom never plowed a row in his life, and if he did, failed miserably at it.

I have a sneaking notion that I am not in the great minority in my experience, and if I would like to be shown. Maybe this letter would bring forth some answers that will tell how. I would like to learn.

Yours very truly,
W. E. McDUGGALD.

And here is the letter from a "Farmer's Wife": To the Editor of The Telegraph: You recently published a letter from a striking shopman's wife, complaining about his $145 a month salary.

Will you be fair enough to publish a letter the other side of the question—one from a farmer's wife? For some years my husband worked for a salary of $125 a month, on which we lived modestly, but comfortably, and accumulated a small account, getting bigger almost every month.

Then we fell heir to 100 acres of good land.

My husband had taken a college course in agriculture, and it seemed a pity not to use this knowledge and this land. Also we read and heard so much about the profit and independence of farming. That was five years ago.

Our savings and a mortgage on the land.

There is a different outlook then. It is well enough for railroad employees to organize against their employers, and to destroy the property which had provided them employment and a livelihood. When Jimmy drivers attempt the same thing—and a former railroad striker is their employer—well that's going too far.

Some of Cliff Walker's enemies say he is not a strong man. We find that whatever strength he has, is for the right. He has promised much, and if elected possibly would not do much; few men do as much as they promise—few men intend to do all they promise. Hardwick's friends of two years ago charge that he has done very little he promised them. We are not condemning him for what he has failed to do; but we cannot bring ourselves to forget the things he did before he went in.

He has promised much, and if elected possibly would not do much; few men do as much as they promise—few men intend to do all they promise. Hardwick's friends of two years ago charge that he has done very little he promised them. We are not condemning him for what he has failed to do; but we cannot bring ourselves to forget the things he did before he went in.

GEORGIA DAIRYING PROVING POPULAR

MITCHELL COUNTY FARMERS MAKE TOUR OF INSPECTION TO STUDY CREAMERY.

(By J. D. Gardner)

Camilla, Ga., Aug. 1.—The party of thirty-three farmers that left Camilla last Thursday on a tour of investigation through Colquitt and Turner counties with the object of obtaining first hand information on the creamery industry returned very enthusiastic, and many of them are getting ready to make immediate shipments of cream to Ashburn or Moultrie.

The most important question the party wanted answered was as to how the farmers felt about it after ten months' trial. Much general information was received that will be beneficial in the live stock, poultry and creamery business. The farmers visited the one-horse creamery up to the man that lived in town and owned a large farm. Briefly stated, the information received was about as follows:

1. Every farmer that has been shipping cream for six months or over was improving his facilities and striving to increase his shipments, not one signifying an intention to give it up, although over 50 per cent of the farmers near Ashburn are selling cream.

2. The raising of 100s, calves, chickens and the production of cream are all essential to the other, and unless all are carried along together, it is not best to try to ship cream.

3. It is best to grow into it, instead of going into it, for every farmer can be a cream shipper that has two or more cows, and can make it profitable if he will follow out with regularity, and the native cows are the best to begin with.

4. Farmers do not have to ship their cream ever twice a week, and do not have to keep ice, and the only equipment needed to begin with is two 5-gallon cans and a separator, all of which can be bought on partial payment plan. Anything that a cow can eat is good feed, and all feed can and should be produced at home.

5. One-tenth of the butter that Georgia consumes is raised in Georgia. All the rest has to be shipped from the west and north.

6. The average amount of revenue from the South Georgia cow is $100 per year for the cream alone, payable twice a month.

7. The calves do not have to be fed on milk longer than two months, after which they can be cared for with grass and other pastures. The skim milk then can be used to raise a pig without extra cost.

8. It is best to give the boys an interest in the cream check, based upon increasing production.

9. The pasture season in Georgia comes in when the western pastures go out of season; cream is high in Georgia when it is low in Minnesota, and vice versa.

10. Cows that are purchased should be bought in Georgia, if possible; the nearer the better.

11. It is not a get-rich-quick scheme, but a save-your-life proposition that gets better the further you go with it. It is impossible to over-produce.

It Will Help You All The Week

"THIS IS SUCH A FINE DAY; SUPPOSE WE GO FISHING OR OUT OF TOWN FOR A VISIT"—AND
ITSELF.

This is not your idea of supporting the best asset our community has. But many persons put pleasure ahead of church attendance.

THE CHURCH NEEDS YOU.

The pulpit and the press are the two great upbuilding forces of every community. You wouldn't care to live in any town where either was absent. Suppose everyone gave the church the support you do—in time and money. How long would it keep alive?

You have a definite responsibility to support some church. It is helping you whether you know it or not.

GARVAN DEMANDS
HARDING CLEAR HIM

Writes to President That He Has Been Grossly Misled by Daugherty.

New York.—Flatly refusing to return to the United States government a single chemical patent right owned by the Chemical Foundation, Inc., of which he is president, Francis P. Garvan, in a spirited and energetic letter to President Harding, asserted that the President, "grossly misled by the attorney-general," is for the first time in American history, attempting to abrogate a solemn Executive order of a predecessor, and is acting, unbecomingly, in violation of the law, and at the same time the American institution might be freed from the prohibition enforced by the patents against the manufacture of the most valuable dyestuffs.
Accordingly these considerations were laid before various associations of chemical manufacturers, notably the Dye Institute and the American Manufacturers' Association. The suggestion was met with an instantaneous and enthusiastic approval, and a result a corporation has been organized to be known as the Chemical Foundation (Inc.), in which practically every important manufacturer will be a stockholder, the purpose of which is to acquire by purchase or otherwise all the chemical patents owned by Americans. . . . The first president of the Chemical Foundation was Francis P. Garvan of the New York bar, who has clear vision and indefatigable industry. I am chiefly indebted to the working out of this plan.
The combination was not objectionable to the public, since it was so desirable to have a genuine American chemical industry, whether a stockholder of the company or not, could secure the benefits of the patents on fair and equal terms."

A Quasi-Public Idea

Mr. Garvan goes on to state that at that time he was a dollar a year man, with no expectation whatever of becoming anything more than a citizen.
He was only when Attorney-General Gregory resigned and Palmer was appointed, did he take the custodian's place. Three months later, he writes,
"I was elected to the position of president of the Chemical Foundation by book 63, page 388, the undersigned will sell at public sale, before the court house door of said Bulloch county, during the legal hours of sale, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, on the first Tuesday in August, 1922, the same being the regular day, time and place for sheriff's sales, the following described real estate embraced in said security deed
to-wit:

All that certain tract or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the 48th G. M. district, said state and county, containing one hundred seventy (177) acres, more or less, being bounded on the north by lands of
P. McKelven, east by lands of H. R.
Lee, the branch being line; south by
M. C. Joyner, and west by lands of
C. A. Joyner.

This sale is for the purpose of paying the principal and interest due under the terms of said security deed, amounting to $3,000 principal, $572 interest, and $4,572, which said indebtedness is evidenced by a certain promisory note of said G. E. Lee, mentioned, described and provided for in said deed, together with the costs of this proceeding, as provided for in said deed.

A conveyance will be executed to the purchaser in accordance with the terms of said security deed and as authorized therein by the undersigned, said purchaser to pay for reverses stamps and title deed.

This August 3, 1922.

FOR VISITORS.

A brilliant social event of Tuesday afternoon was when Mrs. W. H. Sharpe and Mrs. H. Dell Anderson gave a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sharpe, on Zetter-ower avenue, honoring Mrs. Garrett and Misses Dutton. The lower floor was thrown together and was artistically decorated in garden flowers of golden hue and a wealth of pot plants. Lighted candles cast a soft glow over the luxuriant splendor.

The guests were greeted at the door by little Miss Martha Kate Anderson, who was dainty in a dress of peach-bloom tulle, and were presented to the receiving line in the music room by Mrs. Charles Pigue, whose gown was a georgette heavily beaded.

Forming the receiving line were Mrs. W. H. Sharpe, who was regally charming in a gown of black canton crepe heavily embroidered and wearing a corsage of marigold; Mrs. H. Dell Anderson, lovely in a gown of gold chiffon over periwinkle satin; Mrs. Garrett, gowned in navy blue georgette combined with canton crepe; Miss Rett, gowned in navy blue georgette with black velvet poppies; Miss Helen Dutton gowned in periwinkle and hona canton crepe; Miss Eugenia Garrett wearing a creation of flesh organdie self trimmed; Miss Lenah Hagan, wearing an exquisite model of flesh organdie trimmed with lace medallions.

Mrs. Gordon Mays, Mrs. Frank Williams and Mrs. A. H. Parker, ushered the guests into the dining room where the buffet and mints were served. The buffet, mantel and chira cabinet were handsomely cut glass candelabra holding several candles, and the table was covered with a white and gold, was served. Mrs. Mays wore a becoming model of black georgette effectively draped, Mrs. Williams wore a gown of flesh georgette, Mrs. Parker wore an airy dress of grey and blue organdie combined with grey georgette.

The dining room was effective in every detail. The dining table was adorned with a cover of real elung lace, and had as a centerpiece a model of marigold; at the ends of the table were crystal candelabra holding unadorned burning tapers. The candelabra were ornamented with tiny bows of gold ribbon. Bows of mints were placed at intervals. ## BOBO-BRYAN.

A marriage of cordial interest to a large circle of friends was that of Miss Lois Bobo and Thomas Randall Bryan, Jr., of Brooklet, which was solemnized on Thursday, July 27th, at 5:30 p. m. at the home of the bride.

Quantities of tall yellow candles in brass candlesticks were used in the spacious parlors which were decorated with masses of brown-eyed susans and garlands of southern statice.

As soon as the guests were assembled, Miss Elizabeth Robertson, in her characteristic style, sang "At Dawning," after which Miss Lila Lee, of Brooklet, and Miss Grace Parker of Statesboro, threw open the folding doors, revealing a lovely tableau.

Beneath a lovely canopy of green and white, from the center grew a large white and silver wedding bell stood the bride and groom. The bride wore a Princess model of navy blue canton crepe trimmed in gray chiville. Her chic fall hat of gray and blue duvetyn with the silver quill and her gray gloves and two-color slippers, completed the costume. Her corsage was white sweetheart rosebuds and orchids.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. L. Nease, of Springfield. During the ceremony Miss Elsie Mallory, of Richmond, Ga., played softly, "To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell. Miss Mallory's gown was a Martha Washington creation of chargeable green tulle. Miss Elizabeth Robertson wore orange organdie. Miss Lila Lee wore blue organdie. Miss Grace Parker's gown was of beige colored georgette and silk lace trimmed in Copenhagen blue.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for Myrtle Beach, S. C., and Wrightsville Beach, N. C.

Mrs. Bryan is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bobo, of Brooklet. Mr. Bryan is a prominent young business man of that city.
